Questions: 10

Marks: 10

Read the two passages given below and answer the questions that follow:

Passage 1

It is relatively hazardous if your food stuck between your teeth for long. It eventually creates germs, they produce acid, and this acid is relatively harmful for whole moth especially for teeth and gums. A cleaning regime, brushing besides flossing provides aid to get rid of these rotten food particles. It clarifies why flossing helps to keep your mouth healthy, according to doctors it's a healthy for your heart too.

Initially It could be difficult to understand that flossing could have a positive effect on heart. There are clear evidences about this concept. One idea is that the microorganisms that hurt your teeth could leave the mouth and travel into your blood. These tiny organisms that get into the blood can then attack your heart. Another idea is based on the fact that when there are too many germs in your mouth, the body tries to fight against these germs. For some reason, the way the body fights these mouth germs may end up weakening the heart over time.

However it's a debatable issue, a group of doctors are against it by their verdict of a link between flossing habits and good heart health is only a coincidence. A coincidence is the occurrence of two or more events at one time apparently by mere chance. The incidence of these events is completely random, as they do not admit of any reliable cause and effect relationship between them. For example, every time I wash my car, it rains. This does not mean that when I wash my car, I somehow change the weather. This is only a coincidence.

Likewise, some doctors think that people who have bad flossing habits just happen to also have heart problems, and people who have good flossing habits just happen to have healthy hearts. The theory that flossing your teeth helps to keep your heart healthy might not be true. But every doctor agrees that flossing is a great way to keep your teeth healthy. So even if flossing does not help your heart, it is sure to help your teeth. This is enough of a reason for everyone to floss their teeth every day.

- A. 1
- B. 2
- C. 3
- D. 4

Q-4) In paragraph 2, the author explains how having too many germs in your mouth can "end up weakening the heart." Using the passage as a guide, it can be understood that with respect to the actual way in which this occurs, doctors are

- A. reluctant to imagine
- B. confident in their estimations
- C. extremely knowledgeable
- D. uncertain but speculative

Q-5) Which of the following best states the main idea of the final paragraph

- A. Because doctors do not agree that flossing will help your heart, it is useless to floss.
- B. It is a fact that flossing can help your heart as well as your teeth.
- C. Even if flossing is only good for your teeth, you should still do it every day.
- D. There is no good reason to believe that flossing will help your heart, but it is still a good idea to do it every day.

Passage 2

Persuasion is the art of convincing someone to agree with your point of view. According to the ancient Greek philosopher Aristotle, there are three basic tools of persuasion: ethos, pathos, and logos.

Ethos is a speaker's way of convincing the audience that she is a credible source. An audience will consider a speaker credible if she seems trustworthy, reliable, and sincere. This can be done in many ways. For example, a speaker can develop ethos by explaining how much experience or education she has in the field. After all, you would be more likely to listen to advice about how to take care of your teeth from a dentist than a firefighter. A speaker can also create ethos by convincing the audience that she is a good person who has their best interests at heart. If an audience cannot trust you, you will not be able to persuade them.

Pathos is a speaker's way of connecting with an audience's emotions. For example, a speaker who is trying to convince an audience to vote for him might say that he alone can save the country from a terrible war. These words are intended to fill the audience with fear, thus making them want to vote for him. Similarly, a charity organization that helps animals might show an audience pictures of injured dogs and cats. These images are intended to fill the viewers with pity. If the audience feels bad for the animals, they will be more likely to donate money.

Logos is the use of facts, information, statistics, or other evidence to make your argument more convincing. An audience will be more likely to believe you if you have data to back up your claims. For example, a commercial for soap might tell you that laboratory tests have shown that their soap kills all 7,000,000 of the bacteria living on your hands right now. This piece of information might make you more likely to buy their brand of soap. Presenting this evidence is much more convincing than simply saying "our soap is the best!" Use of logos can also increase a speaker's ethos; the more facts a speaker includes in his argument, the more likely you are to think that he is educated and trustworthy.

Although ethos, pathos, and logos all have their strengths, they are often most effective when they are used together. Indeed, most speakers use a combination of ethos, pathos, and logos to persuade their audiences. The next time you listen to a speech, watch a commercial, or listen to a friend try to convince you to lend him some money, be on the lookout for these ancient Greek tools of persuasion.

Choose the best answer.

Q-6) As used in paragraph 2, what is the best antonym for credible?

- A. unintelligent
- B. boring
- C. dishonest
- D. amazing

Q-7) Amy is trying to convince her mother to buy her a pair of $200 shoes. She says: "Mom, the shoes I have are really old and ugly. If I don't get these new shoes, everyone at school is going to laugh at me. I will be so embarrassed that I will want to die." What form of persuasion is Amy using here?

- A. pathos
- B. ethos
- C. logos
- D. a combination of ethos, pathos, and logos

Q-8) According to the passage, logos can build ethos because

- A. an audience is more easily convinced by facts and information than simple appeals to emotions like pity or fear
- B. an audience is more likely to trust a speaker who uses evidence to support his argument.
- C. a speaker who overuses pathos might make an audience too emotional; audiences who are too frightened or too sad are unlikely to be persuaded
- D. a speaker can use misleading or false information to make his argument seem more convincing

Q-9) Gareth is running for mayor. He tells his audience: "Under our current mayor, there have been 15,000 new cases of unemployment. If he stays in office, who knows how many more people will lose their jobs? The number could go up even higher. When I was the CEO of Magnatech, I helped to create over 1,000 new jobs. I can do the same thing for this city if you vote for me." Which form of persuasion is Gareth using here?

- A. pathos
- B. logos
- C. ethos
- D. All of above

Q-10) According to the passage, the most effective tool of persuasion is

- A. ethos, because you cannot persuade an audience that does not trust you
- B. logos, because it can also be used to build ethos
- C. a combination of ethos, pathos, and logos
- D. pathos, because human beings are most easily persuaded by emotion
